

Summer internship at AGIRE

About us

AGIRE, the Innovation Agency of Southern Switzerland, was established in 2011. It promotes local innovation and entrepreneurship and it's committed to increase the economic competitiveness leading to the creation of high-skilled jobs.

AGIRE coordinates the action of all local strategic stakeholders (universities, institutions, economic organisations) with the aim to strengthen the innovation ecosystem. It promotes the technology and knowledge transfer between companies and leading Swiss and international academic centres. It supports the creation and international growth of startups and innovative companies by overseeing Tecnopolo Ticino, the first southern Switzerland technology park. AGIRE works in collaboration with key local and national organisations, that provide coaching and mentoring to early stage and emerging promising companies and collaborates closely with the local government in defining economic promotion policies.

Skills

If you are passionate about startups, entrepreneurship, technology, innovation and have an interest in communication and event organisation, you can have the opportunity to spend one month internship at AGIRE.
